Distributed Systems & Blockchain

In the news

Thomas Bocek

18.11.2023

Distributed Systems & Blockchain in the News

- 17.11.2023: OpenAI announces leadership transition [link]

  - "Mr. Altman's departure follows a deliberative review process by the board, which concluded that he was not consistently candid in his communications with the board, hindering its ability to exercise its responsibilities."

  - a.k.a. he's fired, the chairman of the board resigned [link]

  - 17.11.203: Three Senior OpenAI Researchers Resign as Crisis Deepens [link]

  - Accept or ban: Dutch gov't wants to ban officials from using AI software [link]

- 18.11.2023: North Korea was floundering under sanctions. Now it's making billions from stolen cryptocurrency [link]

  - Axie Infinity

- 16.11.2023: Developers can't seem to stop exposing credentials in publicly accessible code [link]

  - 15.11.2023: I analyzed stackoverflow [link], 13.11.2023: Uncovering thousands of unique secrets in PyPI packages [link]

- 16.11.2023: Privacy is Priceless, but Signal is Expensive [link]

  - Servers: ~$3m per year

  - private contact discovery: 600 servers → down to 10

OST